

Here are just some of the challenges that our clients experience, if you recognise any of them then we can help...

There is a lack of strategic direction, products and services are not defined and there is no clarity about the future of the business.

Ineffective leadership and poor decision making is causing problems throughout the company, resulting in low morale and reduced team performance.

There is a lack of skilled and trained people within the workforce and they are losing skilled people to other companies.

Costs are increasing but turnover is decreasing and they are struggling to compete.

Quality is an issue due to inefficiencies in their production processes and it is affecting their business performance.

“Director Resource have provided senior expertise to help develop our business and we are looking forward to working with them on future projects as they arise”

John Reed, MD, Westin

